

UT Extension celebrate 100 years serving Tennessee at Williamson County Fair

UT Extension is celebrating 100 years of service to Tennesseans. Current 4-H members and alumni, along with family and consumer educators, Master Gardeners, community clubs, Home Demonstration Clubs and other clubs related to the UT Extension program are invited to join the celebration at the Williamson County Fair Saturday Aug. 7 at 4 p.m. at the picnic area at the east end of the mezzanine of the air conditioned arena. Past and present members of Extension clubs and programs in Tennessee and other states are also invited to join the celebration.

Those attending may get free admission to the Fair by going to <http://Williamson.tennessee.edu>, fill out a short form and present the form at the box office before the 4 p.m. event.

Be sure to check out the 4-H cake auction following the celebration at 4:30 p.m. and then enjoy the rest of the fair.
